

Model-View

OperationModel object is sent by the Client component's ContextController class to the server's component's ServerHandler class